LIVE MOSTLY IN TOWNS

VIRTUALLY NO RURAL POPULA-TION IN PHILIPPINES.

Only Ten Per Cent Uncivilized, but Illiteracy is Widespread Throughout the Islands.

By an analysis of the census of the Philippines, just completed by the government, much valuable information is to be had. It is interesting beyond the fact that its publication fixes that two years hence, under the law, there shall be established in the islands a legislature, composed of two houses the Philippine commission and the Philippine assembly

According to the census the total popula tion of the archipelago as returned from 342 independent islands is 7,635,426,

Of this number almost 7,000,000 are more or less civilized. The wild tribes form about 9 per cent of the entire population. The civilized tribes are practically all adherents of the Catholic Church. The Moros are Mohammedans, and the other wild peoples have no recognized religious beliefs.

Virtually No Rural Population.

In the archipelago there are 13,400 barrios or villages, with an average population of 500 inhabitants. A number of adjacent barrios form a pueblo or municipal unit, and thus there is virtually no rural population. There are four towns with a population exceeding 10,000 each, and thirty-five with a population exceeding 5,000. Manila is the only incorporated city in the islands, and

Its inhabitants number 219,928.
Inspection of the statistics of nativity show that over 90 per cent of the civilized population of the Philippines were born in the archipelago. The foreigners number about 50,000, of whom nearly three-fourths are Chinese. Over half of the foreign-born live in the city of Manila alone, Exclusive of the army, there are 8,301 Americans in the Islands. The average age of the population is 23.9 years, while that for continental United States is 26.3 years, and that for the negro population of the United States is 23.2 years.

Illiteracy is Widespread.

More than half of the population can reither read nor write in any language, and of the 41.5 per cent able to read, less than one-half can write, while the number able to both read and write constitutes only one-fifth of the population at least ten

Although the Filipino families have been diminished in size by insurrections and cholera, the average family consists of 4.7 persons, and this is still about equal to that of the United States. Except in times of pestilence or after the destruction of crops, pauperism is practically unknown. There are twelve public libraries, containing a total of 4.019 books, more than one-half of which are in Spanish and more than one-fourth in English. There are not as many English books in all the public libraries of the Philippines as are to be found in many of the private libraries in SPIRITUAL RETREAT BEGUN.

Association of Perpetual Adoration and Work for Poor Churches.

The spiritual retreat of the members of the Association of Perpetual Adoration and Work for Poor Churches was begun in the chapel of the Convent of the Perpetual Adoration, on V street, between 14th and 15th streets northwest, yesterday afternoon Monsigner Falconio, the papal delenoon, Monsigner Falconio, the papal delegate, presiding at the opening service. The sermon was preached by Rev. Father Fidelis, the master of novices at the house was far beyond their fondest expectations, and complete success. The welcome received by the Carolinians was far beyond their fondest expectations, and complete the complete success. The welcome received by the Carolinians was far beyond their fondest expectations, and complete the order of the income will be enlarged. One of the principal sources of income from the new building will be the delis, the master of novices at the house of studies of the Passionist order at Pitts-burg. Pa., who will conduct the retreat. Preceding the sermon Monsignor Falconio blessed a number of vestments and other articles to be distributed to poor churches. He also addressed the members of the association and gave them some advice about

In the solemn benediction the papal delegate was assisted by Rev. Father Mackin, pastor of St. Paul's Catholic Church, as deacon, and Rev. Father Fidelis, as subdeacon. Father Fidelis was formerly a noted preacher of the Paulist order name before he became a Passionist priest being James Kent Stone. He has many friends in this city and while here is stay-ing with Father Mackin.

retreat will continue until Friday afternoon, when it will close with a ser mon and benediction. For today, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the order of services is as follows: Half-past 9 a.m., mass, followed by meditation; 10:45 a.m., way of the cross; 4:30 p.m., rosary; 4:45 p.m., meditation and benediction. Friday the program will be mass at 7:30 o'clock, at which there will be an instruction and general communion; sermon, benediction and close of the retreat at 4:45 p.m.

Library Association Meeting.

The monthly meeting of the District of Columbia Library Association will be held on Wednesday evening next at the District Public Library. It has been decided to hold this meeting in the children's room, on the main floor, instead of in the lecture hall. As this room is not closed to children until 8 p.m., the meeting cannot assemble

The program is as follows: Mr. George Bowerman, librarian of the District Public Library, will read by request his paper on "Library Advertising," prepared for the Massachusetts Library Club; "The Prussian Gesamtkatalog: Remarks on Some Recent Discussions," by Mr. Charles Martel of the Library of Congress, and "The Atlantic City Meeting of 1905," reported by Messrs. C. H. Hastings and Herman H. B. Meyer, both of the Library of Congress

Washington Boys Won.

Special Correspondence of The Evening Star. ROCKVILLE, Md., April 9, 1905. The base ball season was opened here yesterday afternoon with a game at the fair grounds between the District Commissioner's team of Washington and the local aggregation. Notwithstanding the unfarable weather and the poor condition of the grounds, the contest was well played and interesting, the Washington boys win-ning by the score of 7 to 6. But eight innings were played.

I. G. Daniels' livery stables, S. L. Dill. ir.'s, livery stables, the Gaskill Hardware and Mill Supply Company's Craven street store and John C. Green's plumbing establishment at Newbern, N. C., were destroyed by fire Friday. There were fifteen horses in the Daniels stables and they were all killed. The loss was about $27,000, par-fially covered by insurance.

REPORTS READ TODAY.

SALISBURY, Md., April 10 .- The Metho dist Protestant conference received reports this morning and agreed to the ioan of Revs. J. S. Bowers to St. John's and B. F. Benson to Christ Church, Baltimore. The overture for a union of Methodist Protestant and Primitive Methodist churches was discussed

The conference was not in session Saturday afternoon, having adjourned over until Monday, as heretofore stated in The Star. Many of the ministers and laymen took the opportunity to visit Ocean City, spending an hour in viewing the sights and hearing from the lips of members of the life-saving crew many incidents connected with that service Sunday morning opened with just enough sharpness in the air to make walking pleasant, and many of the visitors had an enjoy-able experience in and about the town, awaiting the time for services in the Sun-day schools and churches. These were all crowded and a number of the ministers made addresses. Naturally the center of interest was at the M. P. Church, when the venerable Dr. N. C. Cushing preached, after which the candidates for ordination were presented. The impressive services were conducted by the president, Rev. Dr. F. T. Little, assisted by Revs. Drs. Sutherland and Kenzer and Messrs. S. J. Smith

At three o'clock a meeting for men was held in the court room under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association. It was addressed by Detective C. W. Proctor of Washington, who described mission work to them.

The conference, it is expected, will finally djourn Tuesday night.

MONUMENT UNVEILED.

At Appomattox in Honor of North Carolina Confederate Dead.

Special Dispatch to The Evening Star.

of the monument erected on the battlefield at Appamattox. Va., by the state of North Carolina to the memory of her confederate dead who fell in battle during the four years of the civil war, occurred today, and the occasion proved to be a great one. Much had been printed in the newspapers of the two states and in other parts of the country concerning hard feeling on the part of many confederate or-ganizations in Virginia by reason of the inscription to the North Carolino confed-erate troops on the monument, which says: "First at Bethel, Fartherest at Gettys-burg and Last at Appomattox." But for the fact that several Virginia confederate organizations had taken ex-ception to this inscription on the ground that the claim by North Carolina is not borne out by history and their refusal to accept invitations to attend the unveiling, it would never have been known today that hard feeling of any kind existed in the matter, for there was a great outpouring of Virginia confederates from all parts of the state to welcome the Carolina veterans and many other thousands of visitors from the old north state.

and the visitors will return home tonight with only words of praise for the hospitality accorded them on Virginia sol. The unveiling exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. James A. Weston, with introductory remarks by Mr. H. A. London, chairman of the North Carolina Appomattox Commission. The address of welcome was delivered by Governor Andrew Jackson Montague of Virginia, and the response was by Governor R. B. Glenn of North Carolina, whose subject was the "Old North State." The addresses of the two governors were notable for their expressions of good feeling of one state for the

on the evening of the murder by telling her that he wanted to introduce her to a person who would give her work at $6 a week, and that she could have the wages for spend-ing money. At a lonely spot near their home he strangled her to death, afterward throwing the body into a sewer, where i was found a few days later. When discovered a shoe string was tied tightly around with a cheery "Good morning," Ebelt's greatest desire at that time seemed to be o learn the names of those who were to witness the execution.

As the procession left the cell, the keeper leading the way and the condemned man with a priest on either side close behind, Ebelt called out, "Good-bye boys" to the nine other men in the cells for the condemned and each one responded. emned, and each one responded.

WORK OF THE Y. M. C. A.

QUESTION OF WOMEN FURNISH-ING ROOMS.

Many Reports Received, but Not Opened on Account of Secretary Pierce's Absence.

The movement to furnish rooms in the new building of the Young Men's Christian Association received consideration in several churches yesterday, but many of the pastors, it is said, did not receive the letter of request in season to do so. A number of responses were received from churches at Y. M. C. A. headquarters today, but in the absence of Secretary L. L. Pierce, who was called out of the city Sunday, they have not been opened. Among the churches which took up the subject was the Mount Pleasant Congregational. It was decided to accept an offer to have the stereopticon views of the plans of the building shown, and a day will be fixed soon for this purpose. Until that time the women of the church will not signify the number of rooms they will furnish.

That the movement to furn'sh rooms in the new building of the Y. M. C. A. should nave received such encouragement among the women of the churches in particular, it is said, was not surprising, but on the contrary pleasing. Beyond sharing the common interest in the association, the mothers in the churches are and have been encouraging their boys to go there.

The average membership of the Washington association is 2,500. One of the most interesting facts about the inspection of the roster, the officers say, is that the church members outnumber those who are not members by only six. There are 1,253 church members and 1,247 who do not belong to any church. Of the latter number 589 have a preference, which probably indicates that their parents are church mem-bers, and 658 have no preference whatever. These figures are pointed out when it is said that only members of churches in any event are benefited by the Washington Y. M. C. A.

Episcopalians Head List.

The Episcopalians head the list of members with 293, while 107 give this church as their preference. The Methodists are not far behind with 247 members and with "preferred" members numbering 162. Hebrews, Friends, Moravians and Christian Science all have contributed members.
Of the members 343 are married, 261 failed to designate their relation in this respect and the balance, 1,896, are single. Of the entire membership during the past year only 600 gave the District of Columbia as their residence. Virginia and Maryland are first and second on the list.

Question of Sustenance.

The officers say that in some quarters it has been asked why the Y. M. C. A. could not be made to be self-sustaining, and not only that but to bring in a profit by which some of the present fund might be met. At present, they say, the local association asks only $4.50 per member for its work of all-round development. Incidentally, the cost of a college education to the people of the nation is $440 per year. The association to become self-sustaining must either reduce its expenses, which would curtail privilege and usefulness, or increase mem-bership fees, which would reduce the num-ber of men who could afford to join, and thus diminish the influence and usefulness of the organization. Not a college in the country could exist, it is claimed by the officers, if its officers decided that no money should be spent but that paid by students. Yale's expenses are $259 more per student than its income from students; Harvard, $305; Williams, $146; Ann Arbor, $300, and Cornell, $242. eighty-six dormitories, which the women of Washington have set about to furnish. Closets, good fight, a quiet neighborhood, seclusion from activities of the building, proximity to all the advantages of a club and the liberal supply of private baths and shower baths will make the dormitories quite desirable. The two floors devoted almost entirely to dormitories will make a fair-sized hotel. In nearly every association in the country where dormitories have een constructed in connection with the building a long waiting list is kept. It is felt that there is not the least doubt, but this will be the case in Washington

OUT OF CIVILIZATION.

President Roosevelt in the Wilds of Oklahoma.

FREDERICK, Okla., April 10.-President Roosevelt is now separated from civilization. He is in camp with his comrades in the chase at Panther Springs, on the Red river, fourteen miles east of Frederick. Great preparations have been made for the hunt, which will begin tomorrow and continue for five days.

The President's camp today will be early astir. The program is to confine the hunt t) the close tract of land, thirty-six miles square, leased by Capt. Burnett from the Kiowa and the Comanche Indians. The party will not go into Texas. Mr. Roosevelt and his party were conveyed to Panther Springs in vehicles provided for the occasion, teams, saddle horses, grey hounds and stag hounds awaiting them at camp. In the camp the grey hounds will be used in running jack rabbits to cover, while both the grey hounds and the stag hounds will be employed in the pursuit of wolves. Secretary Loeb, the secret service agents and the representatives of the press returned to Fort Worth, where they will re-main until the President emerges from the wilds. Then a dash will be made to Colorado, where the President will pursue mountain lions and bear. Secretary Loeb will be in constant communication with the President.

Frances Powell Swallows Poison-Cal-

Declaring she was tired of life, Frances Powell, colored, twenty-seven years of age, residing at the corner of 34th street and Canal road, swallowed a dose of bluestone last night shortly after the dinner hour. She was despondent, and is said to have taken the poison with suicidal intent. The occupants of the room near hers, hearing her groans, went to her aid and found her stretched on the floor with an empty glass near her side. Her neighbors state she has often threatened to take her life. She was conveyed to the Georgetown University Hospital in an ambulance from the seventh precinct station. The physicians do not regard ner condition as serious.

Calvin Lanor, a colored man, thirty-nine years old, is at Georgetown University Hospital with a dangerous gunshot wound just above the heart, inflicted, it is alleged, by above the heart, inflicted, it is alleged, by Charles McQuade at Knoxville Station, Va., last evening. Lanor received another wound, one bullet penetrating his shoulder and causing a slight injury. The police are on the track of McQuade, who is thought to live in this city. Lanor was brought to the city about 8 o'clock last night in a buggy and is stated to be in a dangerous condition. Harrison Inscoe, the four-year-old son of John Inscoe, 3049 M street, while playing in John Inscoe, 3049 M street, while playing in the street yesterday afternoon was struck by a carriage driven by Graham Hume of 3024 M street northwest. The little fellow was picked up and as he seemed to be in a serious condition, was hurriedly taken to the office of a physician, who found he was suffering from a severe scalp wound and slight bruises on the limbs. He was later taken to his home. taken to his home

The funeral of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Upper man, whose death occurred last Thursday, took place from her late residence, 3605 O street northwest, at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Interment was in Oak Hill. "I am particularly anxious that we should have a thorough test made of the long and the short rifle—that is, of the 24-inch and 30-inch rifle—at some place like that it lites where several companies of that in Utah, where several companies of men can be employed at firing both weapons at long range. This ramrod bayonet business does not make me feel that we can afford to trust too much to theory of the closest variety.
